

IdahoStatesman.com
IDAHO'S #1 WEBSITE FOR NEWS AND INFORMATION

TRAFFIC
Live cameras
Traffic map
Construction

Boise, ID
 High 75 | Low 49
 Currently: 70°
 Wed Thu Fri
 68 | 47 | 58 | 40 | 64 | 40

SCOTT DORVAL
 Subscriber services
eStatesman

SUBSCRIBE TODAY
 Idaho Statesman

HOME NEWS SPORTS BUSINESS POLITICS OPINION ENTERTAINMENT LIFESTYLES OUTDOORS SPECIAL CONTENT CLASSIFIEDS SHOPPING

SEARCH: All SEARCH Web Search powered by YAHOO! SEARCH
QUICK LINKS: Obituaries High School Sports Treasure Valley Proms Boise State Football

Stacks > News Updates

Planning experts to help Treasure Valley cities create sustainable downtowns

Cynthia Sewell - Idaho Statesman
 Published: 01/13/10

Comments (9) | Recommend (0) | SHARE

The Urban Land Institute Idaho announces a new "sustainable downtowns" initiative between real estate development experts from the land institute and leaders from the six Treasure Valley cities.

AA Enlarge Font AA Decrease Font

See All Photo Galleries

An ULI Sustainable Downtown Task Force, composed of 21 national land institute members with significant experience and expertise in downtown and urban center real estate, will meet with more than 150 community leaders to gain insight and opinion on downtown development. The interviews are confidential and input will be anonymous.

Communities participating in the process include Meridian, Nampa, Garden City, Eagle, Star and Boise.

The interview questions will be explore:

CLICK FOR LOCAL DEALS & ADVERTISING SPECIALS

Click here to download plugin.

Idaho Statesman Top Jobs >>
Customer Service Reps